

TROUBLE AHEAD

When gentle woman goes to vote—
They say the time is coming—
As certain as that cork will float
Or as a bill for plumbing
She'll always vote her ticket straight
And never, never scratch it.
For that would spoil it, sure as fate.
She'd feel she'd have to patch it.

Her gloves will have to match her hat.
Her gown be tailor fitted
And of the latest mode at that.
Twill have to be admitted
That when fair woman goes to choose
And cast the ballot cunning
From picture hat to dainty shoes
That voter will be stunning.

But should the tailor fail to send
The new gown as directed
The charming dame will never lend
Her aid to the elected.
What use is woman suffrage, pray,
With which the age is humming,
If gowns upon election day
Are old or unbecoming?

ADMIRAL INVENTS CRAFT
FOR LAND AND SEA USE.

Howells of Torpedo Fame Predicts
Many Uses For It.

Experiments are being made at Bath, Me., with the Amphibian, a unique craft built for Rear Admiral John A. Howells, U. S. N., retired, which is designed for use on land as well as on sea.

Rear Admiral Howells, who was the originator of the Howells torpedo, experimented with a similar craft a year ago, but the results were not just what he wanted, so this second craft, considerably larger, has been built, and there is great interest manifested in the trials.

The craft measures twenty feet long and six feet beam, while she has a hull ten feet in length. She is equipped with a single cylinder ten horsepower engine, which will send her along. It is hoped, at the rate of seven miles an hour in the water or twelve miles on land. Mammoth thirty-six inch wheels are situated forward of amidships of the craft and another in the tail of the craft, thus giving the boat the general appearance of a tri-cycle.

Buckets are attached to the forward wheels for use in the water, while there is also a small propeller, which is situated on the port side, for auxiliary service in the water. There is also a small centerboard in the tail which acts as a rudder for steering the craft either on land or on the sea.

Admiral Howells will take his craft to the mouth of the Kennebec river, where she will be tried upon the sands of the river, and she will, it is hoped, be given trials at Old Orchard, and if she works satisfactorily she will be taken to Long Beach, N. Y.

Mr. Howells believes that such a boat has many uses. It could be used as a surfboat at life saving stations, while it could also be used by sportsmen gunning along the coast, who could sail on the water or go upon the beaches at will.

WORLD COINAGE PLANNED.

Leipzig Savant to Explain Trade Expansion Idea in Berlin.

Professor Wilhelm Ostwald of Leipzig university, one of Germany's most distinguished savants, who lectured at Columbia and Harvard universities in 1905, has originated a novel project for a universal world coinage.

He has been invited by the Merchants and Manufacturers' association of Berlin to make the first public exposition of his idea before that organization some time in September or October. The association will ask leading bankers and exporters to attend the meeting and join in the discussion as to the practicability of Professor Ostwald's proposals.

The scientist's general idea is that the commerce and intercommunication of nations would be immensely facilitated and simplified by the adoption of a money system and coinage common to the whole civilized world.

Professor Ostwald holds honorary degrees from the leading universities of the world.

WAR ON HAT SALUTES.

Darmstadt Society Says It's French and Unpatriotic.

"Why raise your hat?" is the motto of the Society for the Promotion of German Modes of Greeting, whose headquarters are at Darmstadt. It is a wasteful habit, the society urges, because it wears out the hat. It is unhealthful because in bad weather it is apt to bring on colds. And, worst of all, it is unpatriotic, for the custom was adopted from the French, the first nation in Europe to bare the head as a form of politeness.

The true mode of greeting for Germans, the members say, is the military salute, which is of purely Teutonic origin, having originated among the officers of the Prussian grenadiers.

The society has gained many adherents, and the inhabitants of Darmstadt are now accustomed to see elderly citizens stand rigidly at attention and bring the hand smartly to the forehead when they meet acquaintances in the street.

Aids Old Men

The sudden change from years of activity of both body and mind to the quiet of later years causes the human system to undergo many changes, chief of which is in the digestive organs. It becomes harder and harder to get the food to move promptly and regularly and in consequence many elderly men are not only from the basic trouble, constipation, but from indigestion, headache, belching, sour stomach, drowsiness, after eating and similar annoyances. It is first of all necessary to keep the bowels open and then to tone the digestive muscles so as to get them to again do their work naturally. A violent cathartic or purgative is not only unnecessary but harmful, and something mild will do the work just as well.

After you have not through experiment with pills and pills and waters of various kinds, and have become convinced that they do only temporary good at best, then try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a mild, gentle, pleasant-tasting laxative tonic that is especially adapted to the requirements of old people, women and children, and yet is effective enough for anybody. Your druggist who has handled it successfully for a quarter of a century, will sell you a bottle for fifty cents or one dollar, but if you want to make a test of it before spending any money send your name and address to Dr. Caldwell and he will gladly send you a sample bottle free of charge.

This remedy is rapidly displacing all other forms of medication for the cure of stomach, liver and bowel trouble, and families like Mrs. O. F. Wisner, of Syracuse, Ill., and Mrs. Carrie Chiller's of St. Louis, Mo., are now never without it in the house. They have tested it and know its grand value to every member of the family. Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample, simply send your name and address on a postcard or otherwise. For further request the doctor's address is Dr. B.
